Association with World Merit, United Kingdom.

Ritesh Goyal, Founder of GIBS Business School with Chris Arnold, Founder & CEO of World Merit

India’s First Institution to have an Association with World Merit.
Established in 2014, GIBS Business School, Bangalore is yet to produce any MBA graduates. With students still on the breeding ground, however, the institute has already grabbed the limelight by implementing out-of-the-box teaching methodologies that have the potential to create globally competent professionals and highly innovative entrepreneurs. Leading the process of establishing GIBS as one of the favorite places for corporate biggies to hunt their future talent and student to be trained in world-class quality education is Ritesh Goyal, Managing Director of GIBS. A first generation entrepreneur who has just stepped into his 30s, Goyal has already established nine high performing ventures in the field of education, which talks volumes about his insatiable hunger for success and commitment to provide quality services to the society. Hence, Goyal’s journey to become a leader in the space of education is worth mentioning for young India to follow.

During 2007 – 09, getting a decent paying job despite having high qualifications was as difficult as getting into IIIMs or IITs for a fresh graduate. The world was witnessing what is being called the worst financial crisis since the Great Depression of 1929-30. Goyal, then a freshly minted MBA graduate was among the numerous qualified youngsters who were knocking every possible doors looking for an opportunity to start a career. Though, he managed to find a job in an Airhostess training academy that offered him Rs. 10,000 a month, he continuously looked for opportunities where he can showcase his real talent. What happened after six months was the real game changer;

Ritesh Goyal, Managing Director

He is the Founder Trustee & Chairman of GIBS Business School. He is also the MD & CEO at Pathfinder Value Creations Pvt. Ltd, Pathfinder Edu Solutions, and Pathfinder Business Academy. His advice to the young generation: “When you start something from zero, you will not have a fear of losing anything. I have always dreamt big and I have been taking risks to achieve that. Either work hard from 25 – 35 and Enjoy in rest of your life or Enjoy in from 25 – 35 and Struggle in rest of your life. CHOICE IS YOURS.”
Goyal moved to a newly established business school as public relation officer. "It was a great learning," says Goyal, "However, I felt that the kind of education business schools were providing was not adequate to make students employable and there was a great market opportunity for external training providers to emerge." In 2010, Goyal started Pathfinder Edu Solutions in Bangalore to provide corporate training for MBA students. Since then it was a dream run for Goyal. In a short span of five years, with support of his two younger brothers, Ravi Goyal and Pradeep Goyal, he expanded his ventures including a highly promising Business School named GIBS.

"We are not here to increase the number of B-Schools in the country by adding one more. At GIBS, we do not follow the traditional approach of management education," claims Goyal. Indeed, a close look into the GIBS curriculum will evidently justify that Goyal's statement is not just a flamboyant one. Recently, the institute launched a comprehensive training program of 400 hours named 'Campus to Corporate (C2C),' which according to Goyal is not less than a distance MBA program. He says, "Campus to Corporate is first of its kind among the B-Schools in India. By dedicating one extra hour every day for this particular program, we will provide extensive practical exposure to the students for two years and it will help them to get live learning experience which no other classroom training can offer." While, the C2C programs covers the essential skills starting from communication to time management through CEO/HR Talks, Global Business Forum Meets and Workshops, the institute has been running several other add-on programs since its inceptions.

GIBS has created large network of industry professional through establishing Business Forums and advisory boards like Thought Leadership & Experiential Learning (TLEL), Placement Advisory board and Global Advisory.

"Along with MBA, we have integrated many value added program like Project Management Certification, SAP certification, Six Sigma, Diploma in Global Management, Digital Marketing Solutions and so on. We also have different boards consisting of professionals and academicians, who consistently guide us to include necessary programs to bridge university curriculum and latest industrial demands," says Goyal. Completing one year of operation, GIBS has created large network of industry professional through establishing Business Forums and advisory boards like Thought Leadership & Experiential Learning (TLEL), Placement Advisory board and Global Advisory. "We have provided several platforms where our students can frequently interact with industry professionals and successful entrepreneurs. This will definitely motivate our students to work hard and think beyond their text books," explains Goyal.

While, GIBS is well-equipped to provide a vibrant environment of interactive and participative learning, Goyal shares his next big idea of management education and concludes, "From the next academic year onwards, program like personality development program, student exchange program, and foreign languages specialization training in German, Spanish and Dutch.

Supporting the MBA program with relentless support is the faculty at GIBS that form the core strength of the institute. A highly qualified faculty team of 23+ in-house staff members, with six PhD holders and over 23 visiting faculty, the institute caters to the education needs through its staff in its armor. Industrial needs in academia are fulfilled by industry experts who visit the campus for guest lectures. The institute also invites international faculty to its campus for visiting lectures that give insight on the waves and trends worldwide. “By inculcating avid practices in teaching, GIBS ensures rightful delivery of the curriculum and academia that lay down a strong foundation in its students,” says Goyal.

Extra-Curricular Expertise
It is found that the activities organized by an institute enhance the level of exposure it provides to students. The outbound exposure provided at GIBS is noted by a venture called GIBS Social Foundation. Funded by the community of the group, alumni, and MOUs; the foundation along with the student body, organizes CSR activities at the institute like social activities, blood camps, and health check-ups. The authorities believe in moral development of their students and actively back them up with assistance in CSR activities. “Cultural Events, Outbound training, management fests, national and international tours, virtual placements, scheme building, and networking are amongst the many events organized at GIBS,” adds Goyal.

A strong industry institute interface coupled with research ensures preparation of management professional graduates on the industry forefront. The pursuit towards it can be seen at to give lectures,” adds Goyal.

The outcome of industry-institute interface is witnessed in the placements of the institute that has seen its students shine as 100 percent have been placed across domains like operations, finance, HR, Sales and various others and have received packages high as 11.4 lakhs. The presence of the CRDT (Corporate Relation Development Team) committee facilitates placements that promise a sustainable career path for its students to confront the challenges of the industry and flourish with high returns. Through the right guidance and a supportive infrastructure, GIBS strives to contribute to the task of nation building and setting high standards in Management Education.
Management education has changed significantly over the last few decades. B-Schools have sprung up all over the country however, most of them are focused on sending out graduating batches rather than furnishing a polished and competent workforce. This has drastically reduced the number of fresh candidates with practical aspects of organizational life.

Located in Bangalore, GIBS Business School is an exception to this category. With frequent visitors from the sectors like IT, Advertising, Aviation, Banks, Biotechnology, Financial, Healthcare and others for recruitment, which is coupled with the availability of expert faculty, GIBS provides a vibrant environment to create job-ready professionals who can adapt to the changing market trend and can compete with professionals globally. “MBA is a highly intensive, value-added process for people who are driven by the desire to make a difference. The degree is an investment with the best returns, which is valued here,” says Ritesh Goyal, Founder Trustee & Chairman, GIBS Business School.

Realizing the demand and need of job market to prepare well-trained and well skilled management professionals with a global mindset and meet the standards of industries and recruiters, GIBS was set up under the aegis of Goyal Educational Trust envisioned as an institute of high academic standards. “We start our placement training from day one rather the final year. Hence we are committed to make our students ready for job from the day one they enter into the campus,” says Goyal. The placement cell at GIBS is committed to provide a successful future and better placement opportunity for the students with companies like Wipro, HCL, Microsoft, Hyundai, Jaguar, Standard Chartered, HSBC, SAROVAR, Incredible India, Quantum, Abbott, Carlsberg, Tesco and many more as major recruiters. It ensures that the students get the best jobs available in the corporate world. “Placements are handled by a group of experts with Head-Placement at the top, along with a committee of students. They have undertaken the task of strengthening the linkages with industries through various industry related activities for effective interface that will fill the long awaiting vacancy of quality professionals in industry and business world,” claims Goyal.

To refine career goals and to design an action plan, the institute has incubated a Career Guidance desk for students, where students can connect with their mentors who are from industry as well as the education sector. “Here, small groups of 1 to 3 students meet monthly with a mentor throughout the academic year. Mentors are not only professors from this campus but also professionals from various sectors who offer support, guidance and invaluable insight on a range of relevant topics, that helps students in understanding the aura of the industry which is beneficial for placement,” explains Goyal.

Since its establishment, the institute has been acting as gateway that provides a global outlook and practical exposure to make students employable. Along with that, the broad range of market-oriented courses and trainings at GIBS enhances the abilities of its students and enables them to harness their potential and to grow and evolve into successful professionals that the industry requires.
